

Dear Friends,

Happy New Year! Welcome to the new initiative on the Anveshi website. Starting January 2010, we will be maintaining a section of our website for blogs from fellows, members and other interested writers. The website will be devoted to academic and activist matters, and will operate according to different criteria. Some will be open forums in which comments from readers will be displayed directly. Others will be more like seminars, where first preference will be given to invited respondents, after which general comments will be accepted. We need to work out the modalities and practices to make sure that both of these forms work. As with everything at Anveshi, this is an experiment. Let us make the most of it in the different domains the organization's work. We would be happy to put up for discussion any opening suggestions or comments that you may have.

Best Wishes Again
Anveshi Blog Team